About our Services on Staten Island

Sun River Health operates a Community Health Center with primary care, pediatrics, OB/GYN, and dental services in St. George, Staten Island. The health center network also runs an OASAS-licensed addiction treatment program from a location across the street, also on Bay Street.

Sun River is the parent company of Community Health Action of Staten Island (CHASI), a community-based nonprofit social services agency that serves thousands of Staten Islanders each year. Founded over thirty years ago as the Staten Island AIDS Task Force, CHASI provides outreach, education, prevention, and direct support services for populations most affected by health disparities – the poor and working poor, low-income people with chronic illnesses, people with criminal justice involvement, substance users, domestic violence survivors, people of color, and the LGBTQ community.

CHASI operates a harm reduction health hub, domestic violence program, 24/7 resource and recovery center, food pantry and mobile food pantry, alternatives to incarceration project, HIV testing, and prevention services, and is a direct care provider for NYS Health Home care management. In 2020, CHASI began work as a community-based service provider connecting communities to COVID-19 testing and information through the Test+Trace program.
